

Welcome to Burlington Ontario, Canada

Population: 175,000

Burlington's climate is generally continental with warm humid summers and cold, dry winters. This is moderated by the proximity of Lake Ontario, which tends to reduce temperature extremes. Monthly high temperatures range from 27 degrees centigrade in July to 0 degrees centigrade in January. The annual precipitation is 28 inches of rain and 51 inches of snow.

THINGS TO SEE AND DO

Beautiful Burlington is located on the waters of Lake Ontario with the majestic cliffs of the Niagara Escarpment as it's backdrop. Our waterfront features Discovery Landing with a weather observatory, waterfront restaurant, and a pond used for model boats in summer and skating in the winter. You can view this unique park in all seasons via the live web cam at www.burlington.ca

We also host numerous festivals and events during the year including the Fine Art & Craft Festival, Road Races, Doors Open, Sound of Music Festival, Canada Day, Joseph Brant Day, Children's Festival, Canada's Largest Ribfest, Festival of Lights and New Years Eve celebrations.

The downtown features a variety of dining and unique shopping experiences, many with spectacular views of the waterfront.

Golf enthusiasts will enjoy our challenging and scenic courses in the area. Open parkland and trails are perfect for cycling, jogging and strolling in all seasons, including the world-renowned Royal Botanical Gardens (RBG), a popular attraction for bus tours, business meetings and day visitors.

With a passion for the arts, Burlington has a new performing arts centre theatre, historical museums and a first class art gallery. Families can enjoy affordable fun by taking a scenic drive and stopping along the way at various local attractions including the RBG, Waterfront, Art Centre, Museums, Bronte Creek Provincial Park, and Halton Conservation Areas.

With so many fun, picturesque and affordable attractions, Burlington is sure to satisfy families and individuals alike.

SCENIC DRIVES

Slow down and enjoy a more leisurely drive along the waterfront or through the Burlington countryside. Here are a few suggestions for scenic drives. Contact the visitor centre for more detailed directions and other driving tours.

- Great Drives - Begin your adventure at Royal Botanical Gardens Canada's largest botanical garden. Canada's longest footpath, the Bruce Trail, runs through the RBG property. Next stop is Burlington's Discovery Landing on Lakeshore which includes a waterfront centre, a children's play area and water jet plaza. Across from Discovery Landing is the Art Centre and Joseph Brant Museum. Heading east and north Bronte Creek has great trails, camping, a play barn and large outdoor pool. Tucked beneath the Niagara Escarpment, Halton Region Museum sits in the heart of Kelso Conservation Area, and is the centre for exploring Halton's natural and cultural heritage.
- East Lakeshore - from the Visitor Centre head east on Lakeshore Road stopping at waterfront parks en route; Sioux Lookout, Paletta Lakefront Park and Burloak Parks. Continue on to Oakville to watch the boats come in at Bronte & Oakville Harbours.
- Beach Drive - from the Visitor Centre go west on Lakeshore and turn left at the Hospital - stop at Beachway Park for ice cream, take a walk across the boardwalk at the dune crossing. Turn left onto Eastport Drive, where you can stop at the Canal to see large freighter and pleasure boats go through the lift bridge. Walk the waterfront trail at Confederation Park and stop for a cool drink overlooking the water.
- Northshore - from the Visitor Centre head west on Lakeshore, which turns into North Shore Blvd. The tree-lined streets with up-scale residential homes show glimpses of the waterfront along this route. Stop at LaSalle Park and Marina to walk the trails and gaze at sailboats in the bay. Continue on LaSalle Park Rd. to Plains Rd. and head west for a stop at Royal Botanical Gardens and then along York Blvd to Dundurn Castle in Hamilton.
- Rural Burlington - from the Visitor Centre head north on Brant St. until it becomes Cedar Springs Rd. Travel through farmland intermixed with golf courses until you reach Britannia Rd. Go east on Britannia to Guelph Line and north to Lowville where you can enjoy a picnic lunch at Lowville Park along the banks of Bronte Creek.

HISTORY OF BURLINGTON

The many natural advantages of this area attracted aboriginal people long before the arrival of the first white settlers along the lakefront in the late 1700's. In 1669 famous French explorer Rene Robert Cavalier, Sieur de La Salle landed where LaSalle park is now located.

In 1784 the British granted a large land tract to Captain Joseph Brant in recognition of fighting on the side of the British in the US War of Independence. The sale by Brant of lots in his block marked the beginning of the area that evolved into Burlington. Two structures near the site of Brant's home, the Joseph Brant Museum and the Joseph Brant Hospital, are just two memorials to his name.

The wave of Loyalist settlers into this area as a result of the American Revolutionary War was followed by immigration from the British Isles and Europe. Homesteaders had to clear some timber from their lots in order to patent the deeds for their Crown Grants of land. From 1820 to 1850 pine and oak timbers were the area's principal export. Wheat became the major export during the Crimean War when European sources of wheat were disrupted. By 1900, Burlington had evolved into a prosperous farming community with mixed farms and cash crops of fruit and vegetables.

The agrarian period of our history was marked by activities that have disappeared. Commercial canneries, ice harvesting and basket factories have been replaced by modern companies and high tech industries which have brought an influx of residents. From the visit of LaSalle to this area over 300 years ago, Burlington has grown into a highly successful urban area with an appealing quality of life.
